

Warehouse Training Solutions

News & Jobs

Warehouse Training Solutions provide news and jobs noted online and from other sources throughout each month. We update these from a variety of sources but cannot guarantee availability of any Job links contained on the site.

Third Party Content:

The news section contains headings and excerpts from news articles from external news providers. We cannot accept any responsibility or liability for the content of external news sources. Since the integration of content is fully automatic, there is no manual checking of the contents. The copyright of the news is the property of their authors and / or external news providers. If we see evidence of unlawful content of any message or a link to illegal content, the information will be deleted as soon as possible. A news provider cannot influence or oblige us to include any specific news item.

Disclaimer:

Warehouse Training Solutions expressly dissociates itself from all contents of news pages. Brand names and trademarks included in the content of the news sections may be protected by third parties and rights are subject to the ownership rights of the owner. Warehouse Training Solutions can take no responsibility for quality, completeness, timeliness or accuracy of all included news and presents the content without guarantee. Therefore, liability for any damages is excluded. Warehouse Training Solutions reserves the right to suspend, or remove any part of the news section or the whole news section in its entirety without justification at any time.